M. M. BACON

Passed Away Sunday, Aged
61 Years.

Mr. M. M. Bacon died at the home of his brother, Jno. A. Bacon, at Roaring Springs, last Sunday evening, in the 61st year of his age.
The deceased was an invalid all his life and died from a complication of diseases, droupy being the principal cause of his death. He had been helpless for nearly two years. The deceased was unmarried. Three brothers survive him: Dr. T. L.
Bacon, of this city; Dr. C. P. Bacon, of Evansville, Ind.; John A. Bacon, with whom he made his home,
where every kindness and attention were bestowed during his latter days. The interment took place at Roaring Springs yesterday afternoon.

KILLED BY CARS.

Life Crushed Out in Round House.

Bob Pendleton, a colored man, who left here and went to Washington, Ind., four or five years ago, was killed in the round house of one of the railroads running into Terre Haute, Ind., last Saturday. He had left Washington and obtained employment with the railroad company and was working in the round house Saturday when the engine backed into the round house, as we are informed, and he was so badly crushed that he died in a few minutes.
His remains were to arrive here yesterday on the 5:18 train for burial.
Pendleton was raised in the family of the late Capt. D. R. Beard and was considered one of the best and most trustworthy colored men of the city. He leaves a wife and one daughter. His only son was shot and killed by a drunken man about three years ago. He had some property in Washington.

LARGE CROWD.

Circuit And County Court
Made Business Lively.

Yesterday being the first day of the four weeks term of the circuit court and also county court day, there was an unusually large crowd in the city. Business in the stores was quite brisk and trading alley witnessed the usual "swappings."

Goes to Edgote.

Eugene Hester, of Lafayette, has accepted a position as manager of the Home Telephone exchange at Edgote.

CIRCUIT COURT MAKES START.

Grand Jury Empaneled and Will Investigate the
"Night Riders."

J. T. WALKER, FOREMAN

Petit Juries Will Be Made
Up This Morning--
Court's Charge.

Circuit Court convened yesterday for a four weeks' term. There are 435 cases on the docket. Following is a list of grand jurors:

J. T. Walker, foreman, G. H. Box-
ley, J. R. Dickerson, J. R. Gee, F.
E. Quarles, Monroe Boyd, W. M.
West, Geo. Younglove, G. W. Conway, J. C. Adcock, G. M. Diuguid, I.
W. Foster.

In charging the grand jury, the Court dwelt at length on the lawlessness prevailing in some sections.
The jury was instructed to enter into a full investigation of all kinds of violence done by "night riders" and return indictments wherever the evidence justifies it. The charge along this line was strong and to the point.

The petit juries will be made up
this morning.

"OLD CONFEDS"

Return from Richmond Sunday Afternoon.

The Next Meeting Will Be Held in Birmingham, Ala.

The Hopkinsville delegation who attended the confederate re-union at Richmond, Va., last week, returned home in their special car over the I. C. last Sunday afternoon.

They make a fine report of the meeting at Richmond. The question of discontinuing the annual reunions was voted on and the decision was almost unanimous that as long as half a dozen Confederates survive they will meet every year. They say that they are getting old and too feeble to march any more, but that is no reason why they should not get together and talk over old times.

They had a great time in every way, and though the number from here was smaller than ever before, yet it is expected that the meeting next year, which is to be held at Birmingham, Ala., will be fully up to the average. Though some of them will have answered the last roll call before that time, their descendants will take their places.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

Union Services Last Sunday Night.

The Endeavor Societies of the Christian and First Presbyterian churches held a union service at the latter church last Sunday night, taking the place of regular evening services at each church.

The reports of Misses Nichols and Starling were the principal features of the evening, though all the exercises were highly interesting.

The duet by Miss Mary Graeme and Guy Starling was sweetly rendered and highly enjoyable.

Misses Nichols and Starling attended the recent State Convention at Paris, which they report was one of the best of recent years. The work of the different societies in the state during the past year has been prospered with earnestness, and the result was highly satisfactory. The outlook for the new year is most encouraging.

PLAIN STEALING.

Latest Phase of the Work of
"Night Riders."

Two plant beds on the farm of J.
A. Miles at Bennetstown were robbed the thief pulling all the plants large enough for transplanting.

The canvas which was rolled up and lying on a stump was also carried away. From the tracks left, there were only one or two of the thieves. The two beds contained about two-hundred square yards, and the robbery was not discovered until next morning, when negroes went to the beds to get plants to set out. Mr. Miles, crop. Mr. Miles has from the first been a member of the farmers' association.

He telephoned to this city to Deputy Marshal T. J. Cundiff, and his assistant, T. E. Pedigo, went to the scene with bloodhounds, with which an attempt was made to catch the thief.

On account of the drizzling rain, though, the dogs were unable to take the trail.

On the same night Oscar Pendleton, who lives on the farm adjoining Mr. Miles, was similarly visited and suffered even to a greater extent. He lost the plants from 400 yards of beds.

Other farmers in the same section are reported to have had plants stolen.

THE CRITIC AT THE KEYS

Typewriter Had Her Own Ideas as to How Manuscript Should Be Turned Out—Her Efforts Unappreciated.

Types and typewriters are prone to error, as every editor knows. A Kansas paper tells of a lawyer who dictated to his stenographer the phrase, "being the direct result of an act of God." In the typewritten copy he found, "being the direct result of an active God."

A writer of fiction, who deals with the life of Kentucky and Tennessee mountaineers, had an even more amusing experience, which the New York Evening Post records. She had encountered great difficulty in finding a stenographer who combined technical skill with a reasonable degree of intelligence. One young lady after another was tried. Finally appeared one of superior demeanor, and looks, whose queen-like self-possession seemed to baffle well.

In the course of their first session the author dictated considerable dialogue in the characteristic slow, only dialect of the mountaineers, and among other phrases this came:

"Hi's him!"

When the "clean copy" was placed before her, she found this colloquialism rendered as:

"It is he."

And all the rest of the dialogue was similarly "corrected." The second session with the queenlike stenographer was postponed indefinitely.

GAY, GIDDY PHILADELPHIA.

"I always thought the numerous jokes at the expense of Philadelphia sprang from the brains of joke writers and comic artists and had no real basis of fact," said the New Yorker, "but now I am convinced that they haven't overdone the subject at all. One Sunday night recently I arrived in Philadelphia at 12 o'clock, and went into a prominent restaurant on Chestnut street, the Broadway of Philadelphia. There were just two people in there. Both were men, and they were eating oyster steaks. Leaving this scene of midnight revelry, I walked to my stopping place for the purpose of seeing how many people were abroad. I counted just 14 people in six blocks, and two of them were policemen."

FULL OF WIND.

One blustering day last month a teacher in one of the public schools of Germantown, Pa., in assigning topics for an exercise in English composition, suggested that the children of the primary class might give their impressions of the weather. One of the little pupils was observed to gaze pensively out of the window for a long time before starting her work. At last she undertook the task and the teacher noticed that the composition was completed in less than a minute. Its laconic but unconscious humor rather surprised the teacher. The little scholar had written:

"The world is full of wind."

GOOD WORK DONE AFTER FORTY.

Mrs. Eddy was 40 when she discovered Christian Science, just as Mrs. Stowe was 40 when she wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Scott began the Waverley novels when he was 43; Mohammed was 52 when the hejira marked the beginning of his great work; Swedenborg was 54 years old when what is called his illumination began, and if Newton and Darwin had regarded themselves as past their best at 40 there would now be neither the "Principia" nor "The Origin of Species."

DOMESTIC DISCIPLINE.

He—Don't trouble yourself—you can't make the dog obey!
She—O, be patient! You were that way once!

THE LIMIT.

"There's a limit to everything," said Cassidy. "For instance, some men don't know how to drink. Now, when I've had enough I stop."
"To be sure!" replied Casey. "When you've had what you call enough you're too helpless to raise your arm."

Mammoth Cave.

Written by a Pupil of Miss Jennie West's School.

This cave is in Edmonson county, Kentucky, on the left bank of Green River, 85 miles southwest from Louisville. It is one of the largest known caves in the world, was discovered by a hunter named Hutchins, while in pursuit of a bear which he had wounded.

This cave consists of a series of caverns, and has been explored to the distance of ten miles. The mouth of the cave is in a forest ravine 194 feet above Green River, and 600 feet above sea level.

This opening is not the original mouth, the latter being a fourth of a mile north of it, which leads into a place called Dixon's cave. These parts are not now connected but people can be heard talking from one to the other.

Salt-petre was made from the nitrous earth in former years, but the cave is now used as a place of exhibition. The caverns of Kentucky cover over 8000 square miles, Mammoth cave being the largest and most wonderful. Throughout its whole length it seems a mystery of buried palaces and magic haunts, not equaled in any other portion of the globe. The valleys are funnel-shaped depressions, which feed the subterranean streams, some of which are navigable. Echo River is the largest river in this cavern, and is crossed by a boat. In this river, plenty of fish are found, but they are without eyes, there being not the least gleam of light in the cave, and there is no need of eyes.

A voyage of a few hundred yards on this river, which winds and branches through the gloomy expanse takes the visitors into a fairy land of labyrinths, flashing in the light of the torches, with stalagmites and stalactites of every conceivable shape. The natural arch at the entrance of the cave is a span of about 70 feet, and from a ledge above, a catract falls 50 feet to the rocks beneath, where it disappears. A winding flight of stone steps leads down to a narrow passage, through which the air rushes inward in winter and outward in summer. The uniform temperature of the cave is 54 degrees Fahrenheit throughout the whole year, and therefore the water never freezes over.

The lower levels are moist from the pools which are secretly connected with Green River, while the upper parts are dry. This led to the erection of thirteen cottages about a mile underground, for the purpose of a resort for consumptive invalids. In a short time a portion of them died, and the rest lived only a few days after coming out. From dwelling in darkness so long, it is said that the pupils of their eyes had expanded until the vision had become invisible. Only two cottages now remain. The main cave is from 40 to 300 feet wide, 35 to 125 feet high, and is four miles long. At the end of this four miles, it stops abruptly and a winding begins, in which you can walk a distance of 150 miles, while the cave is only ten miles in diameter. It requires four hours to go through the cave by way of the short route, while the long route requires nine hours. The main cave is divided into several vast rooms. The Rotunda is one of the special rooms where the salt-petre works were established.

The "Chief City" has an area of two acres, which is covered by a vault that is 125 feet high, and many rocky fragments, burnt torches, made of canes, and many other signs that it has been inhabited in earlier years.

Audubon's avenue, the one nearest the entrance, is seldom visited because it is full of bats that cluster about its walls like swarms of bees.

Gothic avenue contains many large stalactites and stalagmites, and the interesting place in the chapel, which ends in a dome and cascade. The vertical shafts are among the most wonderful of cave scenery. They pierce through all levels, form the highest parts, or form the sinkholes, even to the lowest floor. These are called pits or domes, according to the position the observer occupies.

Behind a block of stone there is a crevice 40 feet long by 20 feet wide, called the Giant's coffin, which admits an explorer to a place where six pits are to be seen, and are from 65 to 220 feet in depth, and extend 600 yards.

This includes Gorin's Dome, which you can see from the middle of the side of the coffin, and many regard it as the finest room in the cavern.

Others admire more the Mammoth Dome, at the end of Spark's avenue; here a catract falls from a height of 250 feet, and the walls are draped with stalactites. The Egyptian Temple is a continuation of the Mammoth Dome, which contains crystal fibers that curl outward from the center of the group. Spotless arches of 50 feet span are covered with floral clusters and garlands, which cover all the gray limestone. This Temple has six chambers, which are 80 feet high.

Mary's Vineyard is covered with a formation of clusters of roses and grapes. Again there are chambers of more crystals, which are formed from sulphate of magnesium. The ceiling is so thickly covered, that when it is shaken in anyway it will fall like snow storms. There are many deep and dangerous pits, the more frightful for the chaos of darkness that envelops them; among them are the side-saddle and the covered pit, the latter being 15 feet in diameter, and nearly covered by a thin plate of rock. By putting the ear to the edge, the sound of falling water is heard in the fathomless depths below. The Bottomless pit for many years, but it is now crossed by a wooden bridge. The water flows by a serpentine way, called the River Lethe. These shafts have been cut deeper, and on account of its narrowness it has been called the "Fat Man's Misery." The walls are only eighteen inches apart, and it changes its direction eight times in 105 yards, while the distance from the sandy path to the edge above is but five feet.

The rocky sides are cut by the waves and ripples. It contains six columns, two of them quite perfect, and are 80 feet high, and are 25 feet in diameter. The combined length of these chambers is 400 feet.

These are connected with Audubon's avenue by a crevice from above. Of all these vertical shafts, Lucy's Dome is supposed to be the loftiest, being about 300 feet high. The most remote spot from the mouth of the cave is "The Maelstrom," in Croghan's Hall; there are some fine stalactites near this pit.

A son of Francis the poet, allowed himself to be lowered to the bottom of this pit in 1869. The wealth of crystals in the Mammoth Cave is remarkable. They are endless in variety and fanciful beauty.

The sparkling vault of the Star Chamber is 300 feet long and 80 feet high. Besides this there are walls covered overhead with fleecy clouds, or thickly set with imitation snow-balls, etc., on the walls and ceiling.

Croghan's Cabinet and Marion's avenue are each one mile long, and are adorned with gypsum rosettes, and curiously twisted crystals, called "outpockets." These cave flowers seem to be unfolded by pressure, as if a sheaf had been forced through a tight binding, and as if running water had suddenly been petrified.

By this winding route one is conducted to River Hall, and beyond this lies the crystalline garden.

Years ago it was believed that if this place were blocked up escape would be impossible; but lately an intricate web of fissures, called the corkscrew, has been discovered. By means of this web, a spot, climber can be ascending only a few hundred feet, land about 1000 yards from the mouth of the cave, and therefore cut off to one or two miles.

The water which enters through the numerous domes and pits, and falling, during the rainy seasons, in waterfalls of great dimensions, which finally collect in River Hall, where they form several extensive lakes, and are known to be connected with Green River in two deep springs at its brink.

In the spring when the water gets high in Green River, the streams in the cave are joined into a continuous body of water, and sometimes reach about sixty feet above the low water mark. The gradual sinking within is less rapid than the rise and the streams are impassable for seven months during the year. They are navigable from May to October, and provide for many features of the cave scenery.

The Dead Sea is the first we approach. It is embraced by cliffs 60 feet high, and 100 feet long, above which a path has been made, by which we are conducted down the cliff, by a stairway to the banks of the river Styx, a body of water 40 feet wide, 400 feet long, and is crossed by a natural bridge.

Lake Lethe comes next; it is enclosed by a wall that is 90 feet high. From a narrow path leads to a point on the neck of the lake. Extending 500 yards to Echo River is a beach of the finest yellow sand. The rock pathway to Echo River is well proportioned, and famous for its musical reverberations, not a distant echo, but one full of harmony. A sound lasts ten to thirty seconds after the original tone is produced.

By the wise decision of the new judge of the Court of Appeals, Judge Carroll, the judgment of the Livingston Circuit Court has been reversed.

No man has ever entered public office in Kentucky with more universal praise than Judge John D. Carroll, who has just been appointed to succeed Judge Cantrill as judge of the court of appeals. Even the Louisville Post is pleased with his appointment.

The Madisonville Hustler says: It is currently reported that Judge J. Fleming Gordon has decided to accept the position as president of a big trust company organized at Paducah and that he will tender his resignation as circuit judge of this judicial district to take effect July 1.

Circuit court is now in session in this county and also in Caldwell county and it is to be hoped that the grand juries will make real investigations of the lawlessness that has so far gone unpunished in this section of Kentucky.

The covers of the last few numbers of the National have been strikingly beautiful, but none are more dainty or pleasing than the June design which is by W. G. The Confederate Reunion at Richmond, Va., was attended by 12,000 veterans and probably 50,000 visitors. All of the old officers were re-elected, including Gen. Stephen D. Lee as Grand Commander. Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed for ever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Hopkinsville People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Hopkinsville.

Mrs. W. L. Johnson, of 615 Jeap Ave., Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "My husband suffered for several years with kidney complaint which made its presence known by a most severe aching in his back and which often became so bad, especially in the morning when rising or on occasion when he was obliged to do considerable stooping or lifting that he could scarcely move about. It occurred to him while reading an advertisement in our local papers about Doan's Kidney Pills that they might at least give him some relief and acting on the thought he went to Thomas & Trahern's drug store and got a box. 131 YEARS OLD Silver Certificate Issued by Georgia Bank in 1776.

One naturally has a reverence for a piece of paper money issued in the year of the Declaration of Independence. Such a piece of currency is in the possession of Mr. J. W. Overby, a salesman in the grocery store of B. B. Rice.

The piece of ancient script was given to Mr. Overby by his father, W. J. Overby, not long before the senior Overby's death. It is well preserved, though the ends are somewhat worn. The certificate is 6 inches long and 35 inches in width, and is printed on but one side, and is a poor specimen of the "art preservative of all arts." The paper is of a cheap, flimsy quality, and about the color of a small bag used by grocers and is a little stained from being carried for years in a pocket-book. It is a strange looking piece of currency compared with that of today, which is printed on paper made by a process known only to the government, with steel engravings costing a small fortune and which is a crime to be used on anything but Uncle Sam's "genuine stuff." Counterfeiters of today would turn out barrels of money like the piece before us and never be detected by having made a poor job of it. The only printing is as follows:

GEORGIA, 1776. No. 1745.
This certificate intitles the bearer to TEN SPANISH MILLED DOLLARS or the value thereof, according to Resolution of CONGRESS.

Geo. Houghtown.
Wm. Gibbons. Wm. Eiren.
Peter Bard. Wm. O. Bayard.

To the right of the two signatures is a picture of a palmetto tree with in a circle an inch in diameter and bearing an indecipherable motto in Latin. Across the ends of the certificate is the word "Georgia," in script, 1/2 of an inch high and looking very much like the initials worked on soft-soled shoes and other things by ladies to "kill time" these days. As the name of the State of Georgia is the first word on the certificate it is presumed that it was issued by a Georgia bank, "according to resolution of Congress." But that is only hypothetical, and it may have been issued by the government in the first year of its existence, when it didn't know as much about finances as it does today and when counterfeiters were unknown.

Mr. Overby's father brought the certificate from Virginia in 1858. A short time since he sent it to the Secretary of the Treasury to find out if it was redeemable. The Secretary said it had no intrinsic value outside of its antiquity. Mr. Overby's family have always thought a great deal of it and will continue to hand it down from one generation to another.

CALDWELL FARMER.

Forced to Destroy His Own Plant Bed.

Princeton, Ky., May 27—Saturday night, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock, about thirty-five masked men went to the home of Noble Robinson, of near Cobb, and after firing several volleys, ordered him to come out of his house. The order was obeyed and it is said Mr. Robinson was forced to go to the men to his tobacco bed and participate in its destruction. He was given a hoe and told to get busy, which it is claimed he did.

All the men are said to have been masked, and as a result, Mr. Robinson was unable to recognize any of them.

Several nights ago the tobacco beds of Mr. Lee Pollard, and his tenant were destroyed by night riders, and it is thought that the same men who destroyed Mr. Pollard's plant beds are the ones who visited Mr. Robinson.

Do You Feel Chilly, Then Feverish and Ache all Over?

Feel Worm-out, Rile and Tired? Have You a Fresh Cold, With Frequent Hacking Cough? Sensation of Soreness in the Chest or Back?

Don't let your case run into bronchitis, or some other obstinate and dangerous malady. The very best medicine to take in such a case is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Made without alcohol or dangerous drugs, it contains that rare combination of native medicinal roots that will drive a cough (iron it out), as it were, restore the circulation, assist the appetite and digestion, and consequently restore tone to the entire system. This is the reason people look happy even more after taking it—they feel like living, because their liver is active, the blood in their arteries is full of that life-giving quality—rich, red blood. The blood in turn feeds the nerves.

Nervousness and neuritis are only the indication that the nerves are not fed on invigorating blood. This "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce is nature's own restorer. It tones up the organism and invigorates its functions, furnishing to the body one of its necessary constituents, principles of which it is in need.

This preparation is a pleasant taste, agrees perfectly with rebellious and sensitive stomachs, and is extremely effective in restoring tone and vigor to the entire system. It cures troubles of the stomach and at the same time the blood-vessels are given such a toning-up as to throw off a cold. One very good reason why it restores the health of run-down, pale and emaciated people is because it first throws out the poisons through the liver and kidneys. It then begins its reconstructive work by building up flesh and making good, rich red blood.

"I have a son, a son-in-law, a daughter for some thirty years, at times," writes Mr. J. B. Mallon, "and have used medicine from several of our best physicians, without any benefit. I have used your Golden Medical Discovery, and I feel some relief from my nervous prostration, and I have used four bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and I feel that I have received from your medicine, and can cordially recommend it to others."

It Stands Alone—not only in respect to its ingredients, but also as the only medicine for stomach, liver and blood disorders, which absolutely cures PURELY VEGETARIAN AND PERFECTLY HARMLESS. ENDORSED, WITH NO ALCOHOL.

It Stands Alone—as the best of all of which take their nature fully into their consideration and tell them exactly what it is doing. By the time the can afford to do, because his "Golden Medical Discovery" is made of such ingredients and after a working formula that has thousands of cures to its credit, placing its merits above criticism.

It Stands Alone—as Nature's own restorer. It tones up the organism and invigorates its functions, furnishing to the body one of its necessary constituents, principles of which it is in need.

These ailments, they are the first to put up by old Dr. P. V. although much limited, have never been equalled. Made of concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from pure American plants and roots, therefore pure, agreeable and perfectly harmless. One in a million for a stomachic, or stomach and bowel regulator, three for general use for scabrous,

GENIUS RECOGNIZED.

Exhibition of Inventions Not Yet on Market.

Norfolk, Va., May 31.—A most interesting feature of the Jamestown Exposition, is the "Section for Inventions," in which inventors are invited to display their inventions and demonstrate their value to visitors.

The invitation is open to all, and every facility is offered in the way of floor space, tables and shelves, advertising cards and labels, electric current, gas, lights, etc. A modest fee of from ten to not more than thirty dollars, except in very special cases, is charged for such space and service. The service includes, as well as the general care of models, explanations to visitors, and the return of the exhibit at the close of the exposition.

Awards will be made of gold, silver and bronze medals and diplomas. That inventors are alive to this unparalleled opportunity for making public their creations, is shown by the fact that within four weeks after the first notice was sent out by the Bureau of Inventions of the Jamestown Exposition, applications are now coming at the rate of a hundred a day.

The inventors are not the only ones who will profit by this display, for the exhibition cannot fail to be of interest and natural benefit to the public at large. Never before has such an opportunity been presented at any exposition, and now that the first step has been made in this direction, such exhibitions of inventions will not doubt become a part of all future expositions.

Successful Meeting.

The seventeenth annual convention of the State Christian Endeavor Union of Kentucky came to a close at Paris, May the 19th, after one of the most enthusiastic and satisfactory meetings in the history of the State Union. The convention had been in session since Friday, and for three days the Endeavor hosts were practically in possession of the little blue grass city, the total attendance at the closing meeting having been not less than 1,200. The State organization now numbers 250 local societies, and having a total of over 12,000 members. The reports at the convention just closed show a gain of twenty new societies organized in Kentucky during the past year, and an excellent prospect of even greater growth during the present year. The International Union, to which the convention is tributary, meets in Seattle in July. It has grown from less than sixty members in 1881 to over 4,000,000 at the present time, having spread from one corner of Maine, until it is now represented in every country on earth, excepting only Tibet. And it has done other things besides grow. It has well been said that all the energy expended in C. E. work accomplished only what has been done in Kentucky and other state prisons, this alone would well justify the effort.

State officers were elected as follows:

President—Mr. Charles W. Hopper, Crescent Springs.
Vice Presidents—One minister from each denomination.
Secretary—Mrs. Charles F. Evans, Lexington.

Field Secretary—Mr. Homer W. Carpenter, Lexington.

Treasurer—Mr. Houston Ryan, Paris.

Supt. Prison Work—Miss Lucy Starling, Hopkinsville.

Supt. Junior Work—Miss Nell Williams, Carlisle.

The next State convention will meet at Richmond, in May, 1908.

DEATH TO FROGS

Detective Pettijo Kills 11 With 12 Pistol Shots.

Detective Pedigo and Policeman George McCord went to Lucian P'Pool's the other day to attempt to track a meat thief with Quinn Moore's celebrated bloodhounds "J. B." and "Bud," now located in this city. The neighbors had so trampled around the scene that the tracks were obliterated and the dogs could not get the trail. While at Mr. P'Pool's Detective Pedigo heard some frogs croaking in a pond and gave an exhibition of his marksmanship by shooting them at eleven shots. He crippled the eleventh and finished him with another shot.
